

Excerpt from Christ Our Pascha

The Freedom of the Creator

God is the Creator. This means that God not only created the world, but that he is always present his creation, and that he is always creating. Hence, creation is a sign and expression of God's creative love. Through human beings, creation is called to love with love, and to long for God as God longs for them: “God desires that he might be desired and he loves that he might be loved.” writes Maximus the Confessor.
